

Capt. Waddel has been able to bring but few late papers with him; but assures us he read in several papers these accounts of a great defeat of the Spaniards in Italy by the king of Sardinia's forces, to the amount of 15000 men kill'd; that the French have taken Mons, and besieg'd Charleroy; that the Allied army in Flanders was much increased, and 'twas thought would soon be able to stop the progress of the French; that the latest accounts they have of the British fleet were, that they had got into Ferrol, and the English fleet were returned home in order to water.

ANNAPOLIS.

On Friday the 10th Instant, a most terrible Gust, or Whirlwind, made its passage in a narrow vein from about S. W. to N. E. thro' a great part of this Province, on both sides the Bay; and did prodigious Damage, by blowing down Houses, Fences, Corn, &c. And in many places tore large Trees to pieces, carrying away heavy Limbs, as a common Wind does Leaves, a great Distance.

On Tuesday last one Robert Wilson, a Caulker, being somewhat disordered in his Senses, walk'd into the Dock, and was Drowned: His Body was afterwards taken up. The Jury brought in their Verdict Lunacy.

Yesterday arrived here, from England, the Ship Ldier, Capt. William Tiffin, in about Eight Weeks: He came out with Capt. Waddel (who arrived some time since) at New York.

Custom House, ANNAPOLIS, Entered,

THOSE who live too remote from Fulling Mills, may very easily thicken their Woollen Cloth without much Trouble, or any Expence. The Way is, when the Cloth comes from the Weaver's, to wet it well with Hales Water warm'd, and put into a Trough and trample it a considerable Time with bare Feet, turning the Cloth often. It will not be amiss to rub the Cloth over with a small quantity of Fuller's Earth.
